Museum Facelift

The unique eight-sided Peachland Baptist Church was constructed mainly by volunteers in 1910, and served as a place of worship until 1964.

Over the years it has functioned as a temporary Municipal Hall, Parks and Recreation Office, Fire Brigade Hall and Public Library.

Since 1980 the building has housed the Peachland Museum.

The upper floor of the Museum houses a scale model of the Kettle Valley Railway as it existed between 1955 and 1965, built and maintained by the Central Okanagan Railway Company

Hundreds of historical artifacts, photographs, newspapers and documents are on display. Together they offer a glimpse into the rich history of Peachland and its people.

The personal histories of pioneer Peachland families are documented in three volumes. The books are available at the Museum.
